

George Pór is the Founder and Director of Research at Future HOW—Center of Action Research for Regenerative Futures, where he developed Generative Action Research methodology. A metamodern political sociologist and researcher in the collaborative hybrid intelligence of symbiotically linked human and wisdom-fostering AI agents, he is also a Distinguished Fellow at Schumacher Institute. His transdisciplinary research spans the AI-augmented wisdom-praxis, transformative communities of practice, and strengthening resilience from personal to planetary scales. He held appointments at several European and US universities, co-authored 10 books and is working on two forthcoming books: (a) The Rise of Compassionate AI and (b) AI for a DELIBERATELY DEVELOPMENTAL SOCIETY: Exploring the Emancipatory Potential of Artificial Intelligence.
